

2005

This is what the Blowhole looks like now after about 2-3 years of drought. We want to completely clean up this whole area, make it nice for families to have a picnic or just go for a walk. We really wanted to put in bins and tables but that is looking a bit out of reach.

The Blowhole used to look like this, but with damage from nature and people, it has left a scar on this beautiful landscape. This image shows what we want the Blowhole to look like. In other words, that is our goal.
